

Raising high quality beef, is a result of good partnerships between ranchers and seedstock owners. NextGen Cattle desires to take that partnership to a new level with our B²G program. NextGen will bid on or buy back the calves sired from our genetics. We use the kill data on commodity cattle as a road map and tool for rancher profitability and an end product of High Quality BEEF. Whether its traditional calf marketing or Program qualified cattle, we want to help you achieve success. There is no more honorable compliment in ranching, and no better way to build a long-term partnership than to buy cattle from your customer.
